A REMEDY IS NEEDED.

The government of Alberta through out the province is hailed as a great and good government. It recently won overwhelmingly, an election because a great majority of the people of the province feel and believe it is a good government and it is. There can be no question on that score and the fact renders it all the more singular, all the more difficult to understand why certain branches of it are often found so strikingly wanting.

The health department furnishes an example of that to which we refer. A few weeks ago a case of smallpox developed at Passburg in this district. Dr. Malcolmson and his assistant at Bellevue, Dr. McKenzie, were called on to take charge of it. We are informed that telephone and telegraph messages were sent to Edmonton at private expense asking that a health official be sent to make arrangements for handling the outbreak lest the disease spread and become epidemic. It was days and days before there was any response. Finally an assistant health officer came. He inquired into the matter, approved of the steps the local doctors had taken but made no arrangements to have the original case and the three additional ones which had developed in the meantime, cared for. He simply informed Dr. Malcolmson that the government would provide disinfectant with which the patients were recovered and went away, leaving the cases on the hands of the local doctors.

Now the fact is that aside from humanitarian reasons and the interest that Dr. Malcolmson takes in his district, there was no earthly reason why Dr. Malcolmson or his assistant should have given the smallpox cases any attention, not even the incentive arising from the regular business of the medical practitioner for, as we are informed, there was not even a hope of their being paid for their services and they were not in duty bound to attend the cases. But notwithstanding, the government's representative arbitrarily left the cases on their hands to treat or abandon, according as their feeling for humanity or want of it might dictate.

The facts would seem to indicate that there is something radically wrong in the conduct of the government health department. It was undoubtedly the public duty of the local physicians to take the first steps to deal with the disease but once the government health department had been apprised of its existence, it would seem there could be no good reason why the treatment of the cases should have been imposed upon them whether they cared to look after them or not. Why should a local physician with a general practice be forced to go into contact with this manner of infectious disease and run the chance of carrying it to other patients or his own family?

Undoubtedly there is something essentially wrong somewhere and it is the duty of the government to find a remedy. If the health department has the power to deal with such cases the government should see that the members of it fulfill their duties. If it has not the power and there are no regulations making provision for dealing with such cases, then it is the duty of the government to remove the disability by providing the power and the means. It is one of the things in which the government is wanting and always has been. There has never been any provision for dealing with epidemics of infectious diseases outside of organized municipalities where the municipal government is responsible, or if there has, an indifference little short of criminal has been manifested by those charged with the duty of carrying it out. Suppose local doctors had refused to have anything to do with the cases and the health department had shown the same indifference? What would have been the result? Nice sort of thing to contemplate isn't it? The patients, perhaps, in no wise to blame themselves for the misfortune of having smallpox, might have been left to what ever fate might have come to them, abandoned and uncared for and most likely an epidemic of the disease would have spread over the country.

Undoubtedly a remedy is needed; the government should find it.

The Pass papers are already complaining of the way that Mr. O'Brien, their representative, is representing them in the legislature, or as a provincial member. At The Pass and Prairie convention held a few days ago, all the members of parliament in the south were invited to attend the convention. Mr. O'Brien was at Macleod on the day before, but did not take the trouble to attend the meeting, and did not even send an answer to the invitation.

It would seem that the socialists of this kind that are good enough to stop in to do of the Alberta lodges are a bit too visionary and too lofty for ordinary provincial business.

They might be alright in the larger sphere, but in a legislature, which is little more than the ordinary county council, the questions involved are necessarily small and detailed and beneath the notice of the greater builders. And The Pass has been given to understand that Mr. O'Brien is not intending to busy himself with the smaller matters of ordinary provincial business. He is not interested in The Pass country, though he says he is interested in some of the people residing in The Pass—The Alberta.

TO PREVENT FOREST FIRES

Forest fires in the Rockies, their facts and means of preventing them are discussed by H. R. MacMillan, assistant inspector of Dominion forest reserves, in the December issue of the Canadian forestry journal. His article gives the result of investigations made by him during the season of 1906 in the Crow's Nest district of Southern Alberta, more accurately defined as the valley of the middle fork of the Old Man river between the Livingston range and the western boundary of Alberta, locally known as The Pass.

Originally this whole region was heavily timbered, so the reports of explorers and other early visitors to the district say, with the exception of a small area (eighteen square miles in extent) situated above timber line, "So numerous and disastrous have been the fires following in the wake of travellers, settlers and railways," Mr. MacMillan writes, "that at present, of the original 212 square miles of forest, only 33 square miles remain." Moreover, the timber which is easiest to get at is always the first destroyed and what is left is situated at high levels and in other places where it is hard to get at.

Not only has the timber originally on the land been destroyed, but in some cases all possibility of producing, without going to an enormous expense for artificial planting, more timber (or anything else) on the land has been taken away. In this Crow's Nest valley alone there are, out of the 212 square miles of its total area, 85 square miles of such land.

Thus fire protection is obviously the great need of the region, and the department of the interior, through its forestry branch, is devising means to this end. So far, the measures used for the protection of forests from fire in Canada have consisted of the patrol of the forests by rangers, who constantly travel through the forests, keep a look-out for fires, often discovering and extinguishing in their beginnings fires which, neglected, would burn over miles of territory; fight fires and warn campers and travelers against the careless use of fire. This patrol will in all probability form the basis of the system of protection eventually put out in operation, supplemented by the use of "look-outs" and the telephone.

Frank News in Brief

Alex Goyette, dealer in furniture and wall paper.

Frank Gebo left Friday for Montana where he will reside in future.

William Graham has sold his ranch near Burma to Medicine Hat parties.

The number of scarlet fever cases in town has increased to five. Among the afflicted is Mrs. T. B. Martin.

Professor Huston of the Frank school visited Lundbreck and Gillingham Saturday and Sunday.

Tomorrow is Arbor Day but there is not much likelihood of much tree planting being done in this district.

Miss Lillian Berry, teacher in the Frank school has been quite ill this week and was unable to teach Tuesday and yesterday.

J. A. Pelletier, formerly of St. Anne, Que., has accepted a position in the dry goods department of A. V. Lang's store.

Andrew Laidlaw, president of the Galbraith Coal company of Lundbreck, passed through Frank yesterday en his way from Spokane to the mine.

Inspector Canines, formerly in command of the mounted police in this district but now stationed at Clareholm, left last week on a trip to England.

In the league football games played Saturday, Bellevue and Fernie played a draw at Fernie; Coal Creek and Coleman met at Coleman, Coal Creek winning 2-0 and Michel and Cowley played at Cowley, Michel winning 4-1.

A large number of the young people of Frank and Blairmore took in the dance given at Coleman Friday evening. The evening's pleasure was marred for the members of two driving parties by having their rigs tip over. No one was much injured but one young man had the misfortune to have a suit of clothes ruined.

The meeting held at Blairmore last week to settle the disension that arose over the organization of the board of trade, resulted in a confirmation of the election of officers at the first meeting with the exception of vice president and secretary. In those instances the officers originally chosen were unable to act and new officers were chosen in their places. F. E. Hinde was elected secretary and Herbert Bradley Sr., vice president.

According to the Spokesman-Review of Spokane the new Soo Spokane Portia train is proving one of the most popular trains in the trans continental service. It is stated that sleeper berths have been at a premium since the train started the first of the month.

Reports from the prairies relative to the condition of the wheat crop are not very encouraging. Fall wheat is very slow in coming and it is feared that owing to lack of moisture and the variable weather of March the crop has been considerably damaged while the exceedingly late spring is likely to result in a greatly reduced acreage of spring wheat. Hay and oats are expected to be a great crop.

Surveyors have been at work here this week in connection with the proposed change of the tracks of the C. P. R. from Macleod to the summit. It is said there is prospect of the work being undertaken this season. In connection with this matter, it is reported that the town of Cowley will not be moved as was at one time contemplated. When the changes are effected the company will have a grade from Pincher to Coleman of four tenths of one per cent which will afford one of the finest mountain lines on the continent.

The football men of Frank met last week and organized for the summer with James Nicol, president; James Furubull, secretary-treasurer and an executive committee composed of Wm. McVey, Wm. Cook, F. Elliot and D. Lamont, in addition to the officers. The club selected as colors a red and blue verticle stripe sweater and white trousers. The uniforms have arrived and are very neat. Application for admission to The Pass league was made and granted and the team is now in training. The first game will be with Michel at Michel the 29th and the first home game will be with Coal Creek, June 12th. Michel now heads the league with Bellevue second. The Frank team is confident of finishing in the first division if not achieving the championship.

The George Cobleys will break up house keeping tomorrow and Mr. Cobley will leave for the coast by the end of the month. Mrs. Cobley and children will follow later.

The C. P. R. has announced that it will supply coal for steam plows in the event they are unable to secure fuel, to obviate any shortage in the crop acreage that might arise, as has been feared would be the case, from a coal shortage due to the strike.

Attorney T. B. Martin spent Friday at Macleod and Sunday in Lethbridge.

Mrs. A. V. Lang and daughter and Mrs. Lang's sister, Miss Haas, left yesterday for Lethbridge.

Mrs. F. Miska sustained internal injuries last evening while lifting at her home and it became necessary to take her to the hospital. It is stated her injury will necessitate an operation.

The conservative government headed by Sir Edward Morris was successful in the New Foundland election held Saturday. The government will have 26 seats against 10.

The limit of trains blocking crossings was reached Sunday when a train held a crossing while the crew watched a quilt game. A complaint was filed against the conductor.

This district has never known so despicable a spring. People were disposed to forget the foot and a half of snow that fell Monday when it disappeared with yesterday's beautiful sunshine but today it is snowing again with good promise of another foot and a half.
